SWG's Guiding Statement about Generative AI

As the SWG values human expression and creativity, we only accept human generated work in of our programs and services. This means work that is not written, developed, or assisted by Generative AI tools to protect: authors, literacy, critical thinking, ethical practices, new ideas, education, professional development and craft, community and against misinformation.

We're aware that Generative AI is a rapidly changing industry problem, and this is an organic statement that may change. The SWG will protect your work by not using Generative AI in our practices. The SWG does not use Generative AI in our internal practices and policies.
